The Tea Horse Road

Introduction

This historical tour retraces the steps of the legendary "Tea Horse Trail" (Chama Gudao 茶马道) taken by the Caravans of Yunnan province since the Tang Dynasty.

The route earned its name from the common trade of Tibetan ponies for Chinese tea. These ponies were instrumental for the war against the nomads to the North of China. It is speculated that through this network tea was originally introduced to the rest of Asia and eventually, the world.

✚ Kunming (昆明)

Kunming city is a must-see for any Chinese enthusiast. The capital is famous for its weather; nicknamed the "City of Eternal Spring" the capital is usually awash in flowers and lush greenery.

✚ Dali (大理)

The city of Dali has a rich history going back hundreds of years. The old city used to be the capital of both the kingdoms of Nanzhao and Dali, and later played a central role in the Panthay Rebellion.

Nowadays, the old city and new city are kept separate, so the picturesque old city has managed to conserve peace and quiet in the rush of modern life.

✚ Wei Shan (巍山)

The old town of Weishan has over 600 years of history and had once been the capital of the Nanzhao Kingdom.

Today, you can still see the original city tower, and gridded layout of the streets.

✚ Shaxi (沙溪)

Shaxi was a very important stop for anyone travelling the Tea Horse Road.

Both the tea and the salt were highly sought after, and today the village square and nearby houses are still in their original form.

✚ Tiger Leaping Gorge (Hutiao Xia 虎跳峡)

The Tiger Leaping Gorge is the narrowest part of the Jinsha River where the steep walls of the mountains on the two sides have created an impressive view.

Containing a maximum depth of approximately 3790 metres from river to mountain peak, it is one of the deepest and most spectacular river canyons in the world. The whole gorge features a variety of micro-ecosystems and waterfalls, and visitors are sure to experience a unique spot of natural beauty.

✚ Shangri-La (Xianggelila 香格里拉) - formerly Zhong dian

Named after the James Hilton novel Lost Horizon, Shangri-La is the largest Tibetan town in Yunnan province. The town is surrounded by beautiful snow mountains, rich pasture lands and barley fields.

✚ Lijiang (丽江)

Lijiang was central to the production of silk and embroidery throughout history; the women of Lijiang are renowned for their skilled hand-made embroidery.

In ancient times Lijiang was the largest market in Yunnan, and caravans would converge to buy and sell goods, as well as take a rest and stock up on supplies before they continue on this perilous journey. It is possible to still meet old caravan leaders in this area!

2015 China Tour: The Tea Horse Road

The tour will commence in Kunming, the capital of Yunnan. For the first day we'll spend time relaxing and exploring one of the most leisurely cities in China. The following day we will depart Kunming by flight to Jinghong, the capital city of Xishuangbanna prefecture, home to many different minority groups. Firstly, a trip to the Nannuo Mountain, where we will visit different villages where tea is produced and sample different teas. Afterwards, we will head onwards to Menghai, and visit family tea processing workshops.

On the third day we will visit Xidang, a small village with a cheerful market. After the market we will head to Jinghong to visit the Tropical Botanical Garden. The following day we will travel to the old town of Yiwu, to visit the old trading houses and learn about the significance of Yiwu during the period of the Tea Horse Trail. Afterwards, we will travel back to Jinghong for dinner and relaxation.

The fifth day starts with a flight to Dali, where we will explore the old city with the chance to rent bikes or to take the cable car up Cang Mountain. The whole of the next day will be spent exploring Weishan. The following day will be a trip to two villages, Zhouceng and Xizhou, both ancient and steeped in local traditions. Afterwards we will transfer to Shaxi, and spend time exploring the city. The next morning we will have the choice of either visiting and spending a leisurely morning at the old town of Shaxi or discovering the Buddhist Grottoes of the Shibao Mountain. Following lunch we will travel to the Tiger Leaping Gorge.

The morning of the ninth day we will have the option of a robust hike down to the river. After exploring the gorge we will travel to Shangri-la, the Tibetan hub of Yunnan. It is from here that the road became even more dangerous and almost impassable for the tea horse caravans as they entered into the territory of Tibet. Time here will be spent visiting the Pudacuo National Park and a Lama Monastery. The morning of the eleventh day will find us exploring the small town of Benzilan, a traditional Tibetan town with lively markets. That evening we will travel on to Lijiang. The penultimate day will be spent visiting Shuhe, Baisha and Dayan in Lijiang. We will have a farewell dinner before taking an overnight train back to Kunming.
